

Vital to Free Market Economy

It is more than important -- it is vital -- to a free market economy to be able to communicate and research information concerning business interests from all sites on the Internet and not just sites selected by private interests like AT&T, Verizon and Comcast, which sites are either misrepresented by advertising spin, distorted by special interests or have information withheld due to political interests.

The FCC must ensure that broadband providers do not block, interfere with or discriminate against any lawful Internet traffic based on its ownership, source or destination.