

Information must be free from commercial interests

Huge corporations are controlling TV, newspapers, and radio. They let us know what they want us to know They control our government through megadonations to politicians. The public must be kept informed and our access to the internet from people here and from other countries is important.