

Retirees need access to free media

Net Neutrality is essential to free speech, equal opportunity and economic innovation in America. Since the FCC removed this basic protection in 2005, the top executives of phone and cable companies have stated their intention to become the Internet's gatekeepers and to discriminate against Web sites that don't pay their added tolls.

This fundamental change would end the open Internet as we know it. Senior citizens need to have access to all information available, not just that prescribed by large corporations.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.
