

Net neutrality is important to education.

I teach in higher edu and I deliver a lot of curriculum over the internet. Some of my classes are blended, classroom work together w/online work; and some of my courses meet entirely online. Net neutrality is essential for my students to be able to access the materials they need to succeed in school.

Whether it's a textbook or a research web site, a mainstream media web site, or web sites posted by students working together on assigned projects, all students must be able to access the entire web in equal fashion.

Making students second class citizens on the web, while corporations and those who can pay become first class, is unacceptable for our democracy and unacceptable for our educational system. Thank you –
