

The Internet and people

My story is about how I need the internet for my source of information. Like my gaming life, it helps the game industry and to give me the prices, the rating and the reviews. Also ordering things online help people get money for their sites like ordering things from across the world and foods. The internet is what can change the world.