

Dear FCC, I'd like to express my view on the importance of a merger between XM and Sirius satellite radio companies. I support the merger on the grounds that these two companies are no longer competing only against each other. Emerging technology is presenting new forms of competition almost daily. Companies like Apple, AT&T, Verizon, Sprint, Sling Media, and others have brought forth ways for the consumer to bring the same (or similar) content to their existing phones, PDAs, and media players. I myself (with the use of the Sling Media Player) have the ability to stream live television through the Sprint wireless network onto my Treo PDA / phone. This competes with Sirius that I also subscribe to. With companies like Apple introducing the iPhone later this month, consumers will have the ability to wirelessly access the internet as it was meant to be viewed. That technology in itself will bring a tremendous amount of competition to the satellite radio market as a whole. Many types of media are accessible through the internet and will now be made available to iPhone customers. The iPhone is just one of many examples and I am for the merger.

--Apple-Mail-13--908435515

Content-Transfer-Encoding: quoted-printable

Content-Type: text/html;

charset=ISO-8859-1

<HTML><BODY style=3D"word-wrap: break-word; -khtml-
-khtml-line-break: after-white-space; "><DIV>ECFS - E-mail Filing</DIV><DIV><PROCEEDING>=A0<FONT class=3D"Apple-style-span" face=3D"Arial" size=3D"3"><SPAN class=3D"Apple-style-span" style=3D"font-size: 12.8px;">07-57</DIV><DIV><DATE>
6/9/2007</DIV><DIV><NAME> Rodney C.
Jerabek</DIV><DIV><ADDRESS1> 1417 N. Towner
St.</DIV><DIV><ADDRESS2></DIV><DIV><CITY> Santa
Ana</DIV><DIV><STATE> CA</DIV><DIV><ZIP>
92706</DIV><DIV><LAW-FIRM></DIV><DIV><ATTORNEY></DIV><DIV><
FILE-NUMBER></DIV><DIV><DOCUMENT-TYPE>
CO</DIV><DIV><PHONE-NUMBER>

949-233-0505</DIV><DIV><DESCRIPTION></DIV><DIV><CONTACT-EMAIL>

rjerabek@sbcglobal.net</DIV><DI

V><TEXT> Dear FCC,</DIV><DIV>I'd like to express my view on the importance of a merger between XM and Sirius satellite radio companies.=A0

I support the merger on the grounds that these two companies are no longer competing only against each other.=A0 Emerging technology is presenting new forms of competition almost daily.=A0 Companies like Apple, AT&T, Verizon, Sprint, Sling Media, and others have brought forth ways for the consumer to bring the same (or similar) content to their existing phones, PDAs, and media players.=A0 I myself (with the use of the Sling Media Player) have to ability to stream live television through the Sprint wireless network onto my Treo PDA / phone.=A0 This competes with Sirius that I also subscribe to.=A0 With companies like Apple introducing the iphone later this month, consumers will have the ability to wirelessly access the internet as it was meant to be viewed.=A0

That technology in itself will bring a tremendous amount of competition to the satellite radio market as a whole.=A0 Many types of media are accessible through the internet and will now be made available to iphone customers.=A0 The iphone is just one of many examples and I am for the merger.</DIV> <SPAN class=3D"Apple-style-span" style=3D"border-collapse:

separate; border-spacing: 0px 0px; color: rgb(0, 0, 0); font-family: Helvetica; font-size: 12px; font-style: normal; font-variant: normal; font-weight: normal; letter-spacing: normal; line-height: normal; text-align: auto; -khtml-text-decorations-in-effect: none; text-indent: 0px; -apple-text-size-adjust: auto; text-transform: none; orphans: 2; white-space: normal; widows: 2; word-spacing: 0px; "><DIV><BR

class=3D"khtml-block-placeholder"></DIV><DIV><BR

class=3D"Apple-interchange-newline"> </DIV> </BODY></HTML>

--Apple-Mail-13--908435515--