Dear Ms. Dortch,:

I'm all for the Merger. With the Merger I would have benefits of all the programming from joined services. Right now, I have to choose between what I like best. I have SIRIUS for Radio and Football (Mostly)... But I like Baseball and some of the programming from XM. I would have to subscribe to both, Buy two Radios: One XM brand and the other SIRIUS Brand. The cost would be doubled for me, one radio service would be in one car and the other set up in another. I'm not including extra radios for my wife's and mother's car. With one service we could enjoy whatever program we wanted to listen to in which ever car we drove...not drive the car with the service we want to listen to that day! This is only one example of the benefits the public would have if the merger went through.

I just recently acquired an IPOD and this thing is going to cost me a small fortune for all the gadgets, music, videos, and etc. a person has to purchase in order to enjoy the thing.

When I was looking for a service to choose from for Music/Radio Service, I had to look at IPOD, Satellite Radio, HD Radio, Cellular, or Buying a lot of CD's. To say that Satellite Radio has no competition is completely wrong!!! There is plenty of room for one Satellite Service and all the other Radio services a person has to choose from.

If the merger went through you would have a company looking at making a profit...and maybe not going bankrupt. It's not like the Markets need another company going belly up. I have shares of SIRIUS and would like to see people be able to make money on there investments and not loose it!!!

Sincerely,

James Broussard
