Dear FCC:

I write to express my support for the Sirius and XM Satellite Radio merger. I believe that a combined satellite radio company will be able to offer a more diverse selection of programming at lower costs. The combined company will be able to consolidate similar channels, opening up additional bandwidth for additional, more diverse programming. Moreover, the combined company will benefit from economies of scale.

Moreover, it is my understanding that the combined company has agreed to government oversight and pricing restrictions overseen by the government.

I encourage you to support and approve the merger of these two companies.

Sincerely,

Brett Emison
