

Re: Net Neutrality legislation.

Do not allow the ISP's to filter, prioritize, or otherwise tamper with transmissions unless by doing so they increase the immediate speeds of some transmissions and all other transmissions reach their destinations at the same moment they would have otherwise. The first-come-first-served paradigm scales well for network packets, but should not apply to individuals; even if they are deluded or swindled into thinking they are the VIP's of the Net. If this should not come to pass, then I want to purchase a Driver's license that allows me to legally drive up to 200 M.P.H. anywhere and time in the U.S. and I get my personal lane on the Interstate System.
