

IF all my friends magically hook their computers up to each other,
THEN we let another group of friends that did the same thing hook into our "network"...

WOULDN'T it be up to us to decide what gets sent how/when/and where???

Oh wait a minute!!! That IS what the internet is!!! In fact...

If you dont want to see my stuff, you can block me! (clap clap)

If you only want "clean and pure" or "neutrally tiered so as not to be too fast for non-paying people" sites to view, why does not the government spend money on setting up their own sanctioned and safe internet that anyone can log onto.

I wonder why the government does not do that???

it makes absolutely NO sense at all...

what is it, I wonder, that is truly going on?

boggles my brain, yo.
