

Please keep net neutrality. It will stifle competition if companies are allowed to pay for their site to load faster and basically do to the Internet what cable TV and 24-hour news did to the Press. The Internet is America's last untouched frontier, and it should stay that way because I, as an American, hate regulation.