

About me: I am an academic desktop engineer at the College of William and Mary. I have been an IT professional for twelve years and a user, scholar, and advocate of the Internet since 1992.