

I support government mandated network neutrality because it promotes low costs to entry for startup businesses and freedom of speech for citizens.

The internet and its backbone are built on the public utility infrastructure.

Public utilities by definition are a monopoly, and they require regulation in order to stimulate competition and lower prices.

Comcast, my internet provider, currently enforces bandwidth throttling on my internet connection. I am forced to live with this damaged internet connection as there is no other alternative to high speed connections in my area.

An internet without network neutrality would only decrease the speeds at which I currently transmit data.

Please support network neutrality regulation.
