

Please enforce network neutrality. All companies, small or large, should be able to compete fairly on the internet. No network provider should be allowed to give preferential treatment to its own data, or those of partners who can afford to pay preferential access fees. Requiring paid access would stifle small startups, like my small business www.wishradar.com. No network provider should be allowed to give preferential access based on editorial decisions, either.
