

Corporate Take Over

Corporate take over of the internet is a stepping stone to filtering our minds to what "THEY" want us to buy and determine for us what's good for us. It is like what Communist China did to their citizens to erase the Tiananmen Square protests of 1989. Trying to shape our mind to what "THEY" want people to believe. Net Neutrality is essential to free speech, equal opportunity and economic innovation in America. Since the FCC removed this basic protection in 2005, the top executives of phone and cable companies have stated their intention to become the Internet's gatekeepers and to discriminate against Web sites that don't pay their added tolls.

This fundamental change would end the open Internet as we know it. It would damage my ability to connect with others, share information and participate in our 21st century democracy and economy. The FCC must ensure that broadband providers do not block, interfere with or discriminate against any lawful Internet traffic based on its ownership, source or destination.