

The internet belongs to the people!

Did Verizon invent the internet? Did AT&T fund its development? I DON'T THINK SO! As I understand it, we, the American people, funded that research, as the corporations that are trying to take it over stood by and did nothing. But now they want a piece of the pie...no, wait, they want the whole damn pie, because...uh, well, because they want to. It's unbelievable that you at the FCC are even entertaining the idea of complying with their outrageous demands.

Has it occurred to you what the internet would look like if it had been handed over to these corporations 15 years ago? It would long since have become a desert instead of what it is now: an exuberant marketplace of ideas in which everyone can contribute and everyone can be heard.
