

The Internet is my life line.

I have been disabled for 17 years and the internet allows me to participated in many different subjects. I can keep up on what is going on in politics and voice my opinion. The internet has really been a boost to my life. I even want to get my flying license again. I use the internet for contact with my family, the library, I use it to learn about subjects of interest and through it my spelling has improved. I use it in conjunction with my church, the VA hospital aviation related topics. Being on limited income I need for the Internet to free and open for my life to continue to be enriched by being able to look up every thing from what flowers to plant and where thwy grow the best to recipes to cook meals for my wife that is alos disabled.

Please keep the internet free and open.

Thank You
