

I am a business person with a web site and a blog. My consultancy requires me to be online for several hours daily. I see no evidence that we need the Federal Government to intervene on the freedom of speech which we now enjoy on the Internet.

I support the FreedomWorks mission of lower taxes, less government, and more freedom. That's why I am writing to urge the F.C.C. to not regulate the Internet with new net neutrality rules.

These are price controls on the Internet, and they will mean less innovation, and less investment in the infrastructure critical for the deployment of broadband to all Americans. We should let the market work and watch the future of Internet innovation, competition and technological progress. Private business and free enterprise should determine the future of the Internet, not federal regulators and politicians in Washington, D.C.

Thank you for considering these comments.