

Internet is my job, my road to success, my life

Why is Net Neutrality is so important to me? Because my job depends on it! I work in the field of Information Technology (computers/networks) and fair, non-preferential treatment of websites has provided me with tools to do my work well. It is paramount for me to have equal access to all of the resources available on the internet not for simple convenience, but because timing is crucial for us IT people. Abandoning net neutrality will introduce less competition, higher prices for small businesses and non-profit organizations, which will be forced to compete with big for profit corporations. How will you feel knowing that because of your decision access to Red Cross website, United Way, Good Will, church/religious sites and other important non-profit organizations will be slower than to MTV, pornography sites, and such? If people see that when they want to donate money to non-profits and the access is noticeably slow and hindered by the lack of net neutrality, they may just turn around and go to a site that is faster just because they don't want to waste their time.

Please - consider your actions on the future of your kids. They use internet to learn about school subjects , about other countries, about traditions and cultures - don't abandon them! They need to have fast access to sites that may not be able to pay for preferential treatment.
