

Corporate regulation of the internet is ridiculous

With the push of these companies, smaller online businesses will be eradicated.

Much like in the early 20th century, a massive monopoly will repress the economy. Internet diversity will be lessened.

Private developers will have no place to showcase their software.