

Keep it Neutral or just keep it to yourself.

If we lose our Internet Neutrality which is the essence of the spirit of the Internet and the reason it is the massive modern mall and market place the imbalance that will be created will be the Trojan Hoarse for the demise of the WWW. With top executives of phone and cable companies stating their intention to become the Internet's gatekeepers and to discriminate against Web sites that don't pay their added tolls it shows once again the greed of a few can sour something wonderful.

The FCC must ensure that broadband providers do not block, interfere with or discriminate against any lawful Internet traffic based on its ownership, source or destination- such economic based censorship will be the beginning of the end for the Internet. It would damage our ability to connect with others, share information and participate in our 21st century democracy and economy.
