

We Have a RIGHT to Open Information!!!!

It's imperative that citizens be allowed fair access to Internet communications. Imposing a "pecking order" on certain providers and playing favorites with big-bandwidth providers goes against everything that makes this country (narrowly) one of the best in the world. Our freedom is the ONLY bragging point left for our nation. Don't take that away.

As citizens, we can no longer trust our corporate-controlled mainstream media to give us the best coverage of our world's events. The Internet allows us to exchange ideas and perspectives in a way that was never possible before, and has never been more important.
