Net Neutrality is essential to free speech, equal opportunity and economic innovation in America. Since the FCC removed this basic protection in 2005, the top executives of phone and cable companies have stated their intention to become the Internet's gatekeepers and to discriminate against Web sites that don't pay their added tolls.

The internet is the only place where a voice won't be overshadowed by sponsors. Since it began it has provided a safe haven for the 1st amendment to hide from corporations trying to make money.

No gatekeepers. No censorship. No discrimination.
