

Since it has been established that I am definitely a victim of ID Theft, I have been constant contact with the debtors of record and my bank. However, I still continue to get calls to my cell phone regarding debts that are not my responsibility. These have cost me time and money and the collectors are not interested in establishing the accuracy of their inquiry or in obeying the law in regards to calling times and harrasment. I am in the process of filing lawsuits against four debt collectors. I have not released or filed these as yet, but my attorney and I are ready to go once my last letter reaches the debtor of record, the collector, and the credit reporting agencies, we will be filing a class action suit against these firms and reporting these to The Lakewood Sherriff's Dept. in Lakewood, CA. I have been assured that The Sgt of Detectives will personnaly handle the paperwork for these filings and be issuing restraint orders for me to mail and fax to these individuals. Once these have been violated, as I am sure they will be, then legal proceedings my be continued in court. If they are any suggestions you might have, please let me know.

Thank You
