

Subject: Association requires we pay for Comcast cable even if we choose Dish or Fios

I would like to choose Verizon FiOS for video service rather than cable but the homeowner association would still require I pay $500 a year for cable. This is $500 for a service not received and a deterrent to choosing the new offering – FiOS.

Please ban homeowner associations from locking residents into financial obligations that force them out of free choices. This is anti competitive and gives legacy technologies an unfair foothold that new technologies will have difficulty breaking through.

We need our freedom of choice and should not have to forfeit $500 for it.

Thank you,
