

Speeds

Hi, I am European, but live in Charlotte. Before I came here from Germany, I had Internet access of speeds of 10Mbps/10Mbps both Up and Down, for around EUR30 per month. When I came here, now I have to pay for a crappy speeds of (Bellsouth) 1.5Mbps/256Kbps for around 36$. Why??? Why can't U.S. ISPs go with what the rest of the world is doing -- set the Internet free? Why do they have to be so greedy of the speeds, and please, don't throw the excuse of `we have to make the same Internet experience for everyone`...
