

Comcast's behavior regarding their "blocking" of bit torrent traffic is deplorable and illegal. The method used to degrade bit torrent traffic involved forging packets and as such should be treated as such. Title 18 part 1 chapter 119 § 2511 2 a i, of US law provides that communication companies "shall not utilize service observing or random monitoring except for mechanical or service quality control checks." As Comcast is in violation of these terms they should be required to pay compensation for loss of service and be placed under criminal investigation for their violation of the above law.
