

Don't let the corporations ruin the internet,, the best thing about it is freedom; choice. Unlike TV, the internet allows a two-way dialogue, and to let an ISP censor your dialogue is unconstitutional. Please do not allow ISPs, Telecoms, or the government itself to bend the internet to its own demands, let it remain the great equalizing public forum it is shaping to be.

Oh, and there are millions of legitimate peer-to-peer connections made daily, even if a small percentage of them break the law via copyright infringement, don't punish all the users of all P2P services! It would be like a CD store not selling rap music because it gets stolen more often, a convenience store not selling lighters or visine, or alcohol (or drugs) made illegal because some people abuse it.

Comcast's blatant and deceptive blocking of peer-to-peer communications is exactly the problem millions of Americans have warned would occur without Net Neutrality protections.

The FCC must take serious and immediate action to put an abrupt end to this harmful practice and prevent other Internet service providers from following Comcast's example of discriminating against the free flow of online information.

The Internet is a vital engine for economic growth, civic participation and free speech. We simply can't allow corporate gatekeepers to smother these democratic communications by discriminating against new technologies, secretly interfering with Internet traffic and stifling innovation.
