

Comcast's blatant and deceptive blocking of peer-to-peer communications is exactly the problem millions of Americans have warned would occur without Net Neutrality protections. As a current comcast customer, I feel that my rights as a customer are often eroded by their policies surrounding communications. In fact comcast restricts my ability to route to mailservers outside of mail.comcast.net thus restricting my ability to use other providers (without an ssl tunnel).

The FCC must take serious and immediate action to put an abrupt end to this harmful practice and prevent other Internet service providers from following Comcast's example of discriminating against the free flow of online information.

The Internet is a vital engine for economic growth, civic participation and free speech. We simply can't allow corporate gatekeepers to smother these democratic communications by discriminating against new technologies, secretly interfering with Internet traffic and stifling innovation.
