

No company or other entity should be allowed to censor legitimate communication. The internet is a means of communication, just as telephones, the mail, and personal interactions. Net Neutrality is essential to preserve democracy by protecting the free flow of information. Comcast's blocking of communications is essentially an assault on free speech.

The FCC must take serious and immediate action to put an abrupt end to Comcast's harmful practice and prevent other Internet service providers from following Comcast's example of discriminating against the free flow of online information.

The Internet is a vital engine for economic growth, civic participation and free speech. We simply can't allow corporate gatekeepers to smother these democratic communications by discriminating against new technologies, secretly interfering with Internet traffic and stifling innovation.