

Thank you for reading my email. Please, protect the freedom of information. I'm very concerned of the blocking of information by Comcast. It is an attack on free speech and is an example of a abuse of power. I am afraid that efforts such as these by the Comcast company will lead to corruption. We have already seen this kind of Orwellian policies in China.

I do understand why a company would block pornography, because of it's negative social impacts. One must consider, however, how controlling information involving news, history, television, educational sites, religion, blogs, instant messaging, emails and much more have the potential to destroy our great nation.

The corporate quest for money can be the root of many evils. Giving away so many rights to these companies will hurt Americas economy. These tactics are used to eliminate competition, manipulate polls, convince your kids that there is no God, and jack up prices.

Thank you for reading this very long email. Below is a guideline of action that I think would be very useful in protecting freedom. Remember, dead fish cannot swim upstream.

Have a Wonderful Day!

Comcast's blatant and deceptive blocking of peer-to-peer communications is exactly the problem millions of Americans have warned would occur without Net Neutrality protections.

The FCC must take serious and immediate action to put an abrupt end to this harmful practice and prevent other Internet service providers from following Comcast's example of discriminating against the free flow of online information.

The Internet is a vital engine for economic growth, civic participation and free speech. We simply can't allow corporate gatekeepers to smother these democratic communications by discriminating against new technologies, secretly interfering with Internet traffic and stifling innovation.
