

The FCC has created Cable monopolies. I have no choice for my cable service providers. It is Charter Comm or nothing.

The XM/SIRI merger is good for consumers and it will open up the door for Ala-carte pricing model. If consumers like that pricing here, the cable companies will have to rethink their pricing structure.

All five FCC commissioners talk about protecting the consumer and giving consumer a choice. But, lack of action from the FCC sends a totally different signal as to you do not care about the consumer. You simply pay attention to the lobbyists. This much power in the hands of a few(5 to be exact) is not good.

Act on the merger and act now. There will always be room for fine tuning afterwards. If you let the objectors run the show, nothing will ever get done in this country.

Show some courage.
