

Comcast's blatant and deceptive blocking of peer-to-peer communications is indeed the problem millions of Americans have warned would occur without Net Neutrality protections.

The FCC must take serious and immediate action to put an end to this egregious practice and prevent other Internet service providers from following Comcast's example of discriminating against the free flow of online information.

I believe that the Internet is an essential engine for economic growth, civic participation and free speech. We simply can't allow corporate gatekeepers to smother these democratic communications by discriminating against new technologies, secretly interfering with Internet traffic and stifling innovation.
