

Net neutrality is crucial to an informed citizenry and to free enterprise. Do not allow Comcast or any other to violate this principle. Equal access must be preserved. And the FCC should castigate Comcast for trying to game the system by filling the hearing room with paid people so that concerned citizens could not participate. Corporations must not be allowed to stifle dissent any more than they already do by control of the media. For the good of the nation, uphold and enforce net neutrality and make sure public hearings are open to the public.
