

Comcast's blatant and deceptive blocking of peer-to-peer communications is exactly the problem millions of Americans have warned would occur without Net Neutrality protections.

The FCC must take serious and immediate action to put an abrupt end to this harmful practice and prevent other Internet service providers from following Comcast's example of discriminating against the free flow of online information.

The Internet is a vital engine for economic growth, civic participation and free speech. We simply can't allow corporate gatekeepers to smother these democratic communications by discriminating against new technologies, secretly interfering with Internet traffic and stifling innovation.

Furthermore, it is of utmost importance that this not be allowed because in many places in this country, Comcast and other big network providers have a monopoly for the area they service. To allow them to control what news is heard, what websites can be freely visited, how accessible sites are will give them control over what should be a free medium. This is small, but completely relevant to all of this.

Please do the job your organization was put in place for. Protect the citizens, defend our democratic way of life, not that of big corporations.
