

>Thanks to people like you from around the country, the FCC >is now holding a public hearing in Boston, Massachusetts, on >February 26. Although they are not making space for the >public to speak at this hearing, you can still be heard.

"Public Hearing" but no seats for the public?

Am I too blonde to understand this concept?

Big business is destroying our economy - we need to take a look further than the next quarter's profits to see this.

-----

Comcast's blatant and deceptive blocking of peer-to-peer communications is exactly the problem millions of Americans have warned would occur without Net Neutrality protections.

The FCC must take serious and immediate action to put an abrupt end to this harmful practice and prevent other Internet service providers from following Comcast's example of discriminating against the free flow of online information.

The Internet is a vital engine for economic growth, civic participation and free speech. We simply can't allow corporate gatekeepers to smother these democratic communications by discriminating against new technologies, secretly interfering with Internet traffic and stifling innovation.