

It is my earnest desire that any FCC rules, policies, and procedures not violate our First Amendment rights. I believe the new proposals border on censorship. Specifically radio station programming should not be dictated or censored by any government agency or mass public opinion. No additional filing, fees, or strain should be put on any such station. I urge the protection of the First Amendment free speech rights prohibiting any form of government, including the FCC, from dictating broadcasting programming including and especially those of religious content.
