

Fundamental to a functioning democracy is freedom to communicate, particularly about political issues. Any move to censor political messages by the companies that increasingly carry our communications is a severe violation of our democracy in general, and our First Amendment rights specifically. It amazes me that short codes and text messages are not yet covered by these basic rights in your rules. Please rectify this gross oversight immediately.