

Verizon's blocking of NARAL's text messaging campaign violates the principles of Free Speech which are critical to our nation's communications. The unrestricted ability to communicate with the people and organizations of my choice is just as important in text as it is in voice.

To make it short and sweet, keep the Telcos the hell out of my business! What I'm saying, writing, and reading is no business of anyone's but my own until a judge specifically says otherwise. Granting a third party unrestricted license to monitor and alter our communications is a nail in the coffin for democracy in this nation, let it come to pass and you will have failed us all.
