

I'm using Verizon to send this message. In the future how can I insure that you or anyone in our public service gets these messages. TV/Radio are one way communication mediums, Cellular/Internet/Telephone are two-way communication mediums, and as such need the FULL protection of the First Amendment and all Free Speech laws.

Verizon's blocking of NARAL's text messaging campaign violates the principles of Free Speech which are critical to our nation's communications. The unrestricted ability to communicate with the people and organizations of my choice is just as important in text as it is in voice.

Today, text messages are being used for political action alerts, health information, by individuals, corporations, and government institutions. Whether or not I receive those messages should be my decision, not the wireless carriers. Assurances that wireless carriers won't block political speech in the future are simply not enough. The FCC must take action to ensure that this does not happen again by making it clear that the nondiscrimination rules which have long applied to phone calls are also applicable to text messages and short codes.

Don't let wireless carriers be the gatekeepers that decide who may use new, important mediums like text messaging; please keep speech free, no matter what form it comes in.
