

Dear Mr. Martin:

It appears that your assistants are having trouble coming up with possible options, as evidenced by the fact that they were handed over that responsibility on Thu before the Easter Weekend. As a concerned citizen, I have recruited my teenager son to complete this task for the FCC. He has agreed to scale back his IM activity in-between school work. He has promised a delivery of completed task within 48 hours.

Good thing is that he does not expect a lucrative contract. Just a six pack of Mountain Dew and a Wii game of his choice should do it.

With the political silliness aside, it is high time that the FCC resolve this matter, one way or the other. It is a shame that the road to capitalism has pot holes named bureaucrats.

respectfully submitted.
