

The K-Love radio station is an important part of my community, my family life, and personal life. The changes that are proposed may hinder a lot of the good they are trying to accomplish and I am sending my comment to ask that things do not change. The music is positive and encouraging (as their logo states) and it rings true in the songs they play and the messages they bring. I sing and play drums in my church's praise band and listening to and learning some of the top Christian songs helps me and the others to bring a modern and fresh face to worship and praise music. Bringing in members who do not agree or believe in the same things the K-Love staff believes may hinder their message. As they are listener supported, adding more fees will hinder their progress even more so and we may lose our station here in Myrtle Beach as well as other stations around the world. The importance of reaching our international (non-English speaking) listeners may be hindered as well. I don't think "religion" should be forced upon anyone, but the opportunity to hear what K-Love brings should not be hindered in anyway. We all have that right, free speech, to hear the music and words this radio station brings to all. Thank you for your time.
