

I started listening to KLOVE a couple years ago and the uplifting radio station has helped me to realize how important it is to give back. After getting more involved at a Christian Church here in Phoenix, we now volunteer our time and see how much teaching others about the Gospel can affect lives in such a positive way to where the whole community is made better. I strongly believe being a citizen of the U.S. means I should be able to turn on the radio and hear the beliefs and music that are central to my core values. I think that Christian radio, that is very focused on giving back and changing lives should be able to operate without exaggerated costs that could possibly force such a beneficial media to stop. I am asking the FCC to not enforce the new changes to broadcast radio that would have such a negative impact on not only my community, but many others around the country. Thank you.
