

KLOVE radio is very important to my family. We listen everyday at home and in the car. The positive Christian message is encouraging to me and uplifts me through the day. Please do not enact any legislation that will harm Christian radio stations by editing their religious content or by making them broadcast outside views and opinions. The airwaves should remain open for people to speak their religious views, albeit in a clean manner. Do not create added regulatory or advisory boards or create other financial road blocks that will harm these small yet important stations. I am proud that I live in a free country where my family and I can choose to turn on the radio and listen to Christian music and teaching. Do not take this freedom away.
