

I leave K-love on my car and home radio all the time. It is the only station that my young children love to listen to. It is inspiring and has encouraged me in many ways. I do not think it is right that the government is now try to control what we as free Americans can listen to in our homes and cars. If someone is offend or does not agree with the message that K-love is giving then simply choose another station. No one is forcing them to listen to it, so why are being forced not to. I plea to the FCC not to pass these regulations, not just as a Christian but as an Amercian citizen.

Thank you,
