

Please leave free speech on the air. My opinion is that there are plenty of rock, secular, country, etc.-type music stations out there as options.

I opt not to listen to those stations as radio stations such as air1 are a pleasant alternative to the main stream radio stations. Moral United States citizens are proud of the fact that we have the option to choose music we actually enjoy listening to. The main reason for listening to Christian music is that it allows me to keep my mind positive. Most other music is self-centered. It would seem to me that if you are looking to keep a positive attitude in the world, this is a broadly influential alternative. It uplifts the mind and emotions in a way that other music is not capable of. Afterall, isn't a positive attitude what we look for to keep moral order and to sustain the "do unto others" motto that is vital to our very existence.
