

Imposing Federal controls on any form of expression that does not immediately endanger others is against the freedom we value in America. If local broadcasters are out of touch with their community, then the problem should be allowed to correct itself by pressures inherent in a free market economy. Government involvement would unnecessarily complicate the issue, be a waste of taxpayer money, and make it difficult for smaller local(and therefore more likely to be in touch with their community) broadcasters to function.