

The morning of September 11, 2001 I sat at a stop light and listened to news radio as the first of the Twin Towers fell. I sobbed. Not being able to withstand the grief any more, I began scanning radio stations. I heard an upbeat song with lyrics declaring "God is in control" and was immediately comforted. I was not a Christian.

Our local KLOVE radio station has since been a constant comfort for me. I could not imagine it in any other format, I could imagine it not being available.

Please reconsider the proposed rule changes so that this uplifting, inspiring radio station will not be silenced.

Thank you for this consideration.
