

I am a private citizen and am opposed to this rule change. It is another step into political correctness where others who have no investment in time or money can tell somebody else what they can say or not say. To me it violates free speech. It looks like an end around attempt at reinstating the fairness doctrine.