

I, as a taxpayer, find this a complete waste of resources and time on the part of the FCC. It is antiquated regulation that, if imposed, could very well push a lot of free radio to satellite or internet. People in any market don't need a vote on what stations are in their area. They can vote with their radio tuner! No one is forcing them to listen to ANY station in their area. They are ALREADY FREE to listen to whatever their hearts desire.
